

If you wish to learn more about the Japanese exclusion during World War II, these are places you can visit online or in person for more information.

Bainbridge Island Japanese American Community

www.bijac.org

The official site of the Island's Japanese American community with photographs and oral history film clips chronicling the history of Japanese Americans on Bainbridge Island, the exclusion and internment during WWII and the memorial site on the island. The site also includes lesson plans and links to other resources.

Bainbridge Island Historical Museum

www.bainbridgehistory.org

215 Erickson Ave.

Bainbridge Island, WA 98110

206-842-2773

Open daily 10-4

The collection includes 3,500 artifacts and documents and more than 4,000 photographs depicting life on Bainbridge Island since 1854 as well as videos and oral histories related to the exclusion.

Densho: The Japanese American Legacy Project

www.densho.org

1416 S. Jackson Street

Seattle, WA 98144

206-320-0095

Densho provides free multidisciplinary lessons, online units based on primary sources, an interactive map with photographs and multimedia content, a bilingual virtual exhibition, an educational supplement from the Seattle Times, oral histories and a civil liberties curriculum.

University of Washington University Libraries

www.lib.washington.edu/specialcollections

Allen Library South

Box 352900

University of Washington

Seattle, WA 98195

206-543-1929

The site includes an extensive bibliography of readings and films on the Japanese American incarceration.

The Camp Harmony Exhibit displays photographs and documents from the Puyallup Assembly Center including the camp newsletter and numerous reports, newspaper articles, and photographs regarding the Bainbridge Island Japanese American Exclusion.

Educulture; Education in the Field

www.educultureproject.org/onlywhatwecancarry/

OWWCC brings together citizens and educators to bridge classrooms and community fostering lessons about exclusion, inclusion, culture and identity for elementary and secondary students through the study of WWII Japanese American Internment and its impact on Bainbridge Island.

Japanese American National Museum

www.janm.org/collections

100 North Central Ave.

Los Angeles, CA 90012

213-625-0414

Museum online collections chronicle more than 130 years of Japanese American history from the first Issei generation to the present day.

National Park Service

Manzanar National Historic Site

www.nps.gov/manz/index.htm

Minidoka National Historic Site

www.nps.gov/miin/index.htm

Bainbridge Island Japanese Americans were interned at both of these sites. The Bainbridge Island Japanese American Exclusion Memorial is a satellite of the Minidoka National Historic Site.